〔Ⅰ〕 次の英文を読み、後の問いに答えなさい。

About a year ago, my little sister was *diagnosed with *Cystic Fibrosis. *CF is a rare genetic disorder that attacks the *lungs, *liver, *pancreas, and *kidneys. (1)The life expectancy of someone with CF is 42–50 years of age and it is incurable. My little sister has been fighting so (2)her sickness does not try to ruin her day because she has her bad days and her good days.

My sister's sickness has been really hard on everyone in our family because we have had to (3)adapt to her lifestyle changes. My mother has been trying her hardest to go to everything of mine (4) we don't get to see each other as often as we used to. My dad goes to San Antonio when my sister has surgery and he has to change his work schedule just (5)so his can match hers.

Both of my parents have worked their hardest to make our lives better (6) it is super hard for the both of them. They have wasted a lot of time and money just to help my sister and me. I thank them all the time for trying their hardest and for always being there for my sibling and me.

My little sister believes that if she works harder in school, she can get accepted to Yale or Harvard. She would like to be a doctor and be the one who cures CF and that's all she talks to her doctors about. My little sister is a fighter and I will always believe in her as much as she believes in me.

〔Ⅱ〕 次の英文の内容と合っているものを後の文から５つ選び、番号で答えなさい。

〔解答番号は 11 ～ 15 〕

We are always at risk for skin cancer. Even when we don't think about it, our skin is absorbing dangerous rays that may result in skin cancer years down the road. By the age of 18, most people have received 80 percent of the sun exposure they should have in a lifetime. Almost 50 percent will have some type of skin cancer by the time they are 65. One serious sunburn can increase the risk of skin cancer by 50 percent. This is a frighteningly high figure, and should encourage us to protect ourselves with sunscreen. Skin cancer can take up to 20 years to develop.

Because of the depletion of the Earth's ozone layer, the ultraviolet rays are stronger than they used to be. While your genes can determine how your skin reacts, everyone should be careful. Climate and altitude also contribute to the strength of ultraviolet rays.

Even if you rarely sunburn, sensitive areas such as the lips, nose and palms should always be protected. Although there are many ways to prevent exposure, many ignore the facts. Most think the best hours to sunbathe are between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. In fact, the sun is strongest and most harmful then. Also, many people don't use sunscreen when it is cloudy, and usually don't reapply it after swimming or playing sports. Try to remember to use sunscreen with an SPF of at least 15 every two hours. If it's very hot and sunny, wear a hat to shield your face. Never use *sunlamps or *tanning parlors, since their UV rays can be stronger than the sun.

Many teenagers think a golden-bronze tan looks great, but they don't realize the risk they are taking with their health. Wearing sunscreen and protecting your body is another way to show you care about yourself and your future. Hopefully, teens will realize that a great tan is not as important as a long healthy life.

① We are always in danger of having skin cancer.
② Almost all of us need to receive more exposure of the sun.
③ We should use sunscreen to protect ourselves.
④ The ultraviolet rays are stronger than they used to be, so everyone should make sure of avoiding danger of skin cancer.
⑤ The lips, nose and palms are rarely damaged by sunburn.
⑥ The sun is strongest and most harmful between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.
⑦ When it is cloudy, we had better not use sunscreen because it damages our skin.
⑧ When it is very hot and sunny, a hat is useful to protect your face from the rays.
⑨ Many teenagers know how dangerous it is to have a golden-bronze tan.
